Australia is one of the last places where life still exists after nuclear war starts. Commander Dwight Towers and his Australian liaison officer is sent to the coast of North America to discover whether a stray radio signal is a sign of life. Het ideaal en de praktijk zijn nergens zo fraai, zo spreekwoordelijk en zo geestig belichaamd als in het duo Don Quichot & Sancho Panza. De grote roman waarin dat gebeurt, die aanvankelijk was opgezet als een parodie op de middeleeuwse ridderroman, is onlangs door een internationale jury uitgeroepen tot de mooiste roman aller tijden.

'I would like to enthusiastically recommend The SAGE Handbook of E-Learning Research. An international set of authors have produced a highly readable handbook that covers topics in E-learning research, theory, policy, language and literacy, and design issues. The work draws on multiple perspectives ranging from early work in asynchronous learning networks to community organization in e-learning. This is a large and much needed work that organizes and illuminates issues in E-learning in a way that readers will be able to take away practical advice for their own use. I am quite pleased to see this handbook that provides a very useful organization of knowledge for our field' - John Bourne, Ph.D Professor and Executive Director, The Sloan Consortium (www.sloan-c.org) 'This book is an important contribution to the development of E-learning because its account of the research always begins with the context of learning from which the exploitation of technology can be viewed. The authors help us understand that technology affords new kinds of relationship between the learner and what is learned, and how it is learned. With this rich understanding, the book is able to build the wide-ranging research foundation on which the field can move forward' - Diana Laurillard, Institute of Education, University of London 'A comprehensive and compelling resource that provides a global perspective on a development that is transforming higher education' - David Pilsbury, Chief Executive, Worldwide Universities Network

'Unlike many how-to books on the topic...this work focuses on research for educators and others interested in how technology enhances or diminishes learning. Highly Recommended' - Choice Magazine This handbook provides a state-of-the-art, in-depth account of research in the rapidly expanding field of E-learning. The first of its kind, it provides reviews of over 20 areas in E-learning research by experts in the field, and provides a critical account of the best work to date. The contributors cover the basics of the discipline, as well as new theoretical perspectives. Areas of research covered by the Handbook include: - Contexts for researching e-learning - Theory and policy - Language and literacy - Design issues - History of the field The editors' introduction and many of the chapters show how multiple aspects of E-learning interact. The introduction also provides a new model for researching the field. This book is relevant for everyone in higher education, from undergraduate to faculty, as well as university administrators involved in providing E-learning. It will provide a research background for higher education, including universities, training colleges, and community colleges. It will also be relevant to those involved in any research and developmental aspect of E-learning - corporate trainers and those involved in online programs at secondary school or in virtual high schools. Whether you are a lecturer, researcher or programme designer, this is an essential read. Adopting a central theme of variability, the book explores different aspects of native and non-native accents of English. The dominating perspective is that of a non-native speaker, although – as argued by some contributors – the very distinction between native and non-native English may need to be redefined. As the debate on the pronunciation of English as a lingua franca continues, this volume presents well-focused studies investigating the acquisition and use of the sound system by native and non-native speakers, problems with the choice and variability in pronunciation models and pedagogical aspects of pronunciation instruction. The issue of accents calls for a comprehensive approach; this book aims to provide such a broad perspective, based on expertise and experience of the contributors, who are specialist in linguistics, applied linguistics, phonetics, phonology and ESL. The book is divided into three parts. Part one discusses complex conditioning of production and perception of native and non-native accents. It contains acoustic and auditory studies investigating the effect of such independent variables as identity, L1 or contextual factors on the elements of the sound system. Part two links the accent variability studies to the pedagogical context by presenting problems with the pronunciation model, its choice and variability. The main focus of part three is on pronunciation teaching: papers presented in this section report on the methods and results of phonetic instruction in different settings.

The English language is the medium of globalisation and it is itself deeply affected by globalisation. As a result, the teaching and learning dimension of English as a tool for global communication needs rethinking - especially in the traditional English language classroom, which is still largely based on Anglo-American language norms and contents. The articles of this volume reflect the ongoing international discussion with regard to the use and acquisition of English in a world-wide context. The contributions cover four essential domains of this discussion: 1. Political, Cultural and Sociolinguistic Dimensions, 2. Teaching and Learning English in a Global Context: "Old" and "New" Standards, 3. Learners in Primary, Secondary and Higher Education: Focus on Europe and 4. Teacher Education. The volume goes beyond the language teaching context and approaches the globalisation of English from several perspectives.

Please note that the Print Replica PDF digital version does not contain the audio. English for Aviation is part of the EXPRESS SERIES. It has been designed to help students reach ICAO Operational Level 4. It can be used to supplement a regular coursebook, on its own, as a stand-alone intensive specialist course, or for self-study. English for Aviation will help pilots and air traffic controllers with standard phraseology as well as improve plain English in the skills areas specified by ICAO.

Aan de rand van het Gaiaanse Bereik hangt middenin de desolate regio van het Grote Gat, de eenzame ster Mora waaromheen de dubbelplaneten Maske en Skay hun complexe banen walsen. Op Maske wordt het gebied Thaery met zijn dertien gouwen bevolkt door de afstammelingen van de laatste menselijke migratiegolf die er eeuwen geleden een nieuw thuis vonden. Nadat zijn oudere broer de erfgenaam van Huize Droad wordt, trekt de jonge aristocraat Jubal Droad de wereld in om over zijn toekomst in de rijk geschakeerde Thariotse kastensamenleving na te denken. Geld heeft hij niet, en zijn adellijke titel stelt buiten de grenzen van zijn eigen gouw ook niet veel voor. In de bergen van Isedel, vlak bij de grens met de naburige wilde landen van Djanad, kruist een merkwaardig personage vergezeld van een peloton perruptors - soldaten gerekruteerd uit de sociaal zonderlinge Djans - Jubals pad en dat wordt hem bijna fataal. Nadat hij van zijn verwondingen is genezen laat Jubal het er niet bij zitten en hij gaat op zoek naar het arrogante individu dat hem voor dood achterliet, vastbesloten om verhaal te halen. Zo komt hij een samenzwering op het spoor die niet alleen Thaery, maar de hele wereld Maske onherroepelijk dreigt te veranderen. En niet bepaald ten goede...
